

My mother's profession

My best friend's mom is a famous actress. We often go to the theater for her performances. I see how the audience loves her, how they give her flowers and say words of gratitude. My friend is very proud of her mother.

And my mother is a teacher at the school. I believe that the teaching profession is the most necessary and useful. My mother teaches elementary school. When the kids come to the first grade, they can't do much. And after three years, they are already reading, writing, counting, can correctly retell what they read and explain the solution problems. But the most important thing is that they learn to think, to reflect, to reason. My mother helps them become cultured and developed people.

The teaching profession is very difficult. You need to know a lot and be able to do it. My mother is constantly studying herself. She reads a lot of pedagogical literature and takes special courses for teachers twice a year. However, the most important thing for a teacher is to feel and understand children. The teacher can not be indifferent, inattentive. He should not only teach the child to read and write, but also help him in difficult situations.

The teaching profession is highly respected. I know how much the students and their parents love and appreciate my mother. On September 1 and on Teacher's Day, she brings home a huge number of flowers. Her former students, who have long since graduated from school, always congratulate my mother. I'm glad they remember my mother. I'm proud of my mom. When I grow up, I'll be a teacher, too.

1. Read the text about your friend's mother and translate it using the translation of new words:

Gratitude – благодарность

Necessary – необходимый

Elementary school – начальная школа

Solution – решение

Indifferent – безразличный, равнодушный

2. Answer the questions:

1. Who does your friend's mom work for?
2. Why is the teaching profession difficult and important?

3. Write an essay about your parents' profession (12-15 sentences)